Business software built in Perambalur

Two hundred switches, or the three you need?

Hand someone two hundred switches and tell them one is for the light, one for the fan and one for the AC. Are they happy, or confused? Most business software works like that wall of switches — every feature anyone might ever want, and your staff left to find the three that matter. We do it the other way round. We look at how your business already runs, then hand you only the switches you reach for, placed where your hand already goes.

Six products, and the one that fits you

GreatTiger

Billing that never stops

Invoices, expenses, staff salary and daily accounts in one place. It works fully offline, so a power cut or a dead network never leaves a customer waiting at your counter.

Right for: Shops, traders, small manufacturers

Manigramam

Your shop, open past closing time

Your own catalogue, orders and payments online, under your name. Customers buy when it suits them and you stop losing sales to the ones who could not come in today.

Right for: Retailers and wholesalers ready to sell online

Peranbu

Work that moves without chasing

Approvals, handovers and the same steps you repeat every week, handled automatically. Work reaches the right person on its own and nobody spends the morning following up.

Right for: Any team where things wait on someone

Thoothu

Your whole customer list, in one message

WhatsApp campaigns with proper templates and delivery reports. Offers, reminders and updates reach hundreds of customers at once, on the app they actually read.

Right for: Anyone sitting on a customer list they never use

DocQueue

A waiting room that runs itself

Appointment booking and live queue status for clinics. Patients know their turn before they arrive, and your reception stops answering the same phone call all day.

Right for: Clinics, dental and diagnostic centres

6ways

Every load on one screen

Load booking, trip records and delivery tracking for transport operators. What lives in phone calls, notebooks and memory today sits in one place you can check at a glance.

Right for: Transport operators and fleet owners

And when nothing on the shelf fits

Some businesses run on a formula nobody has built software for. That is our favourite work. Tell us how you do things today, and we will build software that follows your way of working instead of asking you to change it.

Tell us how your business runs. We will show you what is possible.
